

Sexual & Reproductive Health General Practitioner

15.2 hours per fortnight – (0.2 FTE)
Fixed Term- January to December 2027

The Position

The General Practitioner – Sexual and Reproductive Health is an integral member of a multidisciplinary team, delivering high quality, person centred care through a holistic approach to the assessment, diagnosis, treatment, and management of sexual and reproductive health concerns.

This role draws on advanced medical knowledge, clinical expertise, and evidence based practice to provide comprehensive care with a high degree of professional autonomy and accountability. The position has a particular focus on supporting Trans and Gender Diverse clients, as well as addressing men's sexual and reproductive health needs.

As part of the Primary Health Services portfolio, the General Practitioner contributes to the delivery of accessible, inclusive, and integrated healthcare services that optimise health outcomes for the community. Working within a community based multidisciplinary sexual and reproductive health service, the role supports the provision of comprehensive care across the lifespan, promoting positive sexual and reproductive health outcomes for all individuals, regardless of gender, sexual orientation, or background.
